

MEDIA ADVISORY
September 1, 2010

Contact: Holly Lane, hlane@demos.org, 212-247-5433

Danny Glover, Bantu, and D-Flame Announce
PANTHROPOS Concert for Peace, Nonviolence and Global Interdependence

Brothers Keepers and Multicultural Gathering of Friends to Perform on September 10 in Berlin

Berlin--On September 10th, the eighth annual Interdependence Day Celebration and Forum will kick off with a concert hosted by Brothers Keepers, the Interdependence Movement, and Belafonte Productions.

Interdependence Day is a three-day forum that convenes annually to debate and celebrate an interdependent world and the paradox of sovereign nation states trying to solve cross-border interdependent problems. The event is sponsored by Demos, a nonpartisan research & policy center headquartered in New York and will convene more than 80 global leaders from the arts, politics, civil society and academia along with over 40 youth leaders for discussions and debate at Berlin host venues Haus der Kulturen der Welt and RADIALSYSTEM V.

PANTHROPOS ("all peoples") joins together Danny Glover, Brothers Keepers, and international hip hop luminaries from New York, Berlin, and London to celebrate global interdependence, multiculturalism, peace, nonviolence and tolerance.

WHAT: PANTHROPOS

WHEN: September 10, 2010. Doors open at 7:30 pm.

WHERE: Café Global, Haus der Kulturen der Welt, Berlin, Germany

PERFORMERS:

- USA: Danny Glover and Brotherhood-SisterSol with live video message with Harry Belafonte
- Germany: D-Flame, Bantu, Tyron Ricketts, QuietStorm, Nosliw, Ono, General Snipe, Abiodun, Fetsum
- UK: David J, MC Xander

TICKET PRICE: FREE (suggested donation of 10€)

CONNECT AROUND THE WORLD: To get updates, join the global online community over Twitter: @intradpndncemvmt and Facebook: www.facebook.com/InterdependenceDay.

For more information, including performer biographies, please visit:
<http://www.civworld.org/web/iday-2010.html>

###